WHOOSH & PIN

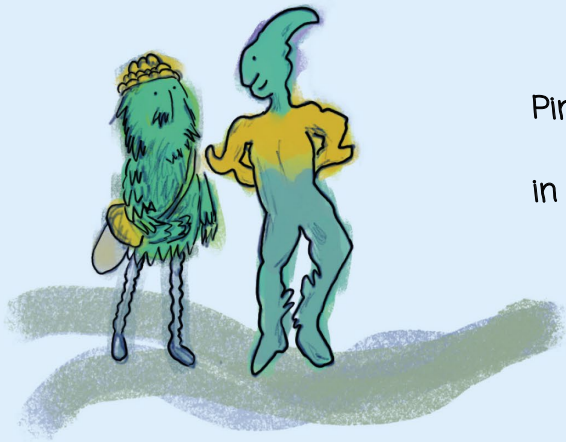

A Wintery Adventure
at the Royal Docks

Written & Illustrated by Oliver Wallace of Patchlarks

Commissioned by the Royal Docks Team

LET THE ADVENTURE BEGIN...

Pin and Whoosh set out for a wintery walk in the Royal Docks.

Pin was excited to show Whoosh some of their favourite discoveries.

Like hibernating ladybirds snuggled
under a flake of tree bark.

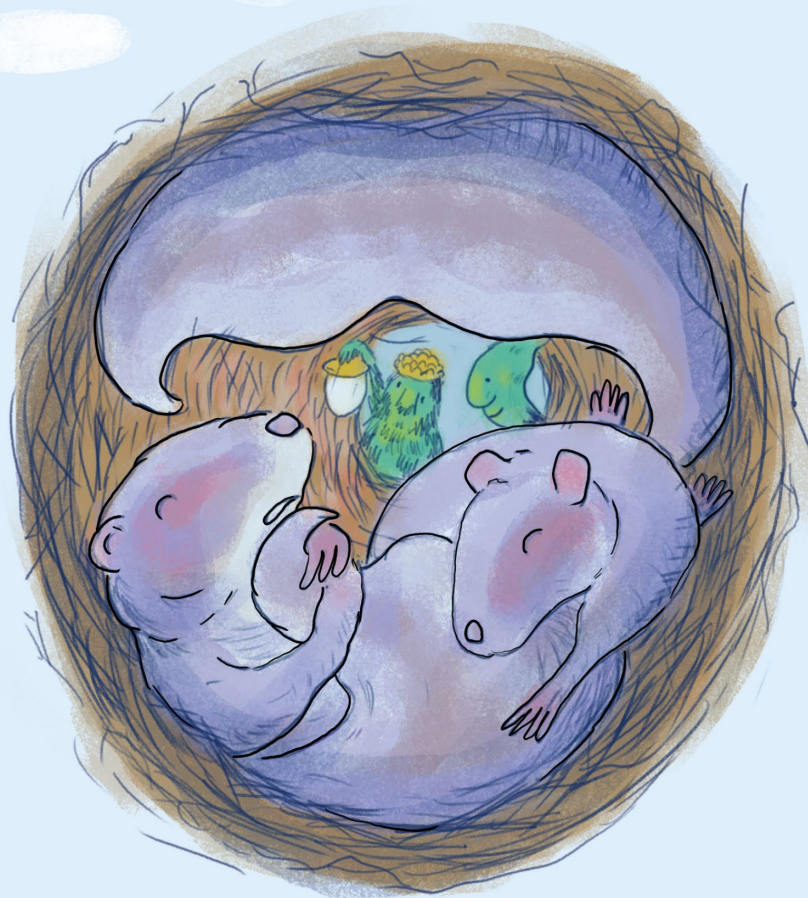

"They stay here all winter"
said Pin.

"I can hear them snoring!"
said Whoosh.

And sleepy squirrels in their winter nest.

"It's so warm in here," said Whoosh.
"Their nest is called a drey," said Pin.

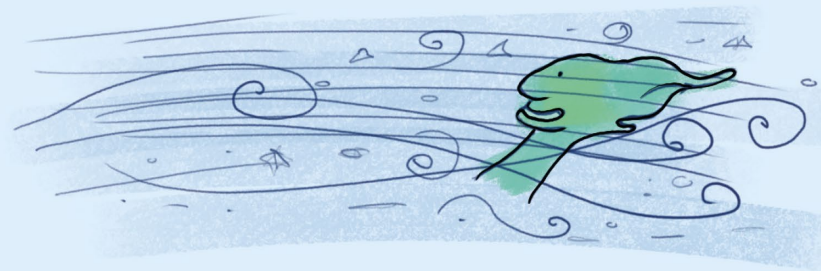

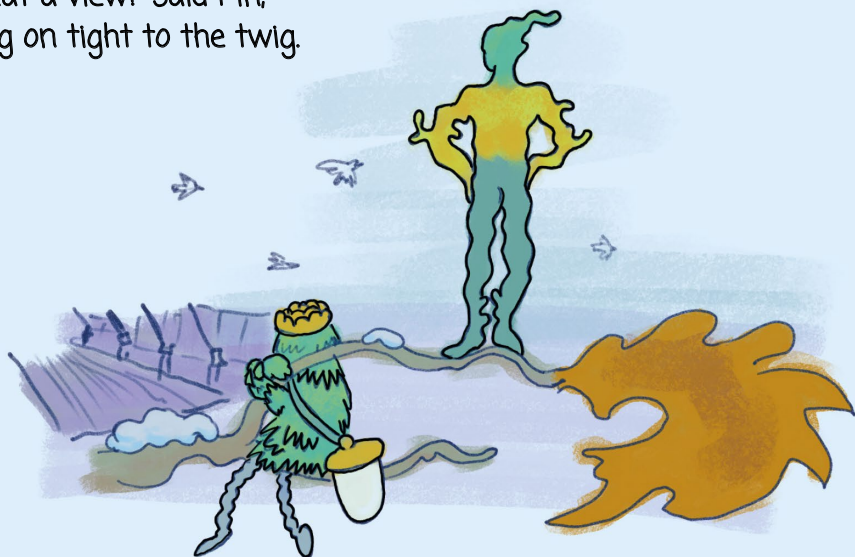

Then Whoosh wanted to share something special with Pin too.

"It's a bit high!" said Pin.

"I'll help you up," said Whoosh.

"Wow, what a view!" said Pin, hanging on tight to the twig.

Swoosh came the wind.

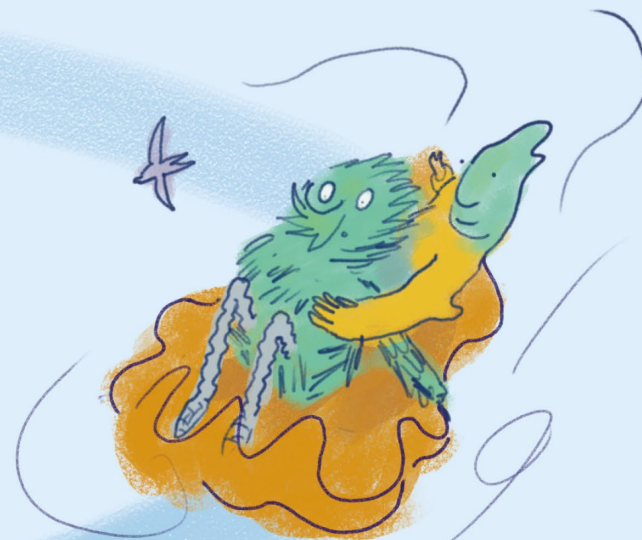

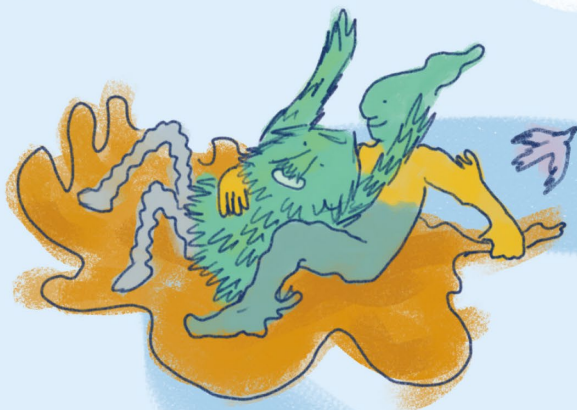

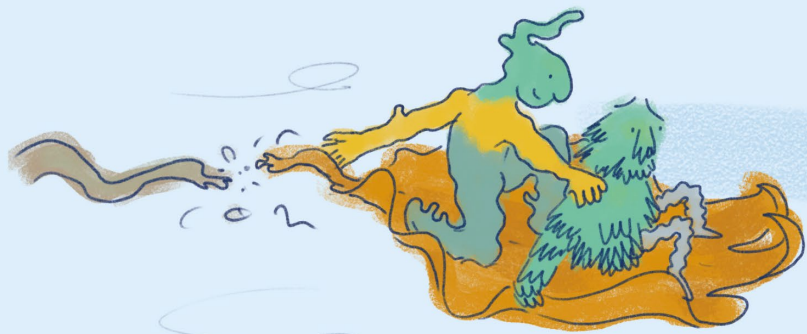

"Yippeel" whooped Whoosh, as a frosty gust swirled snowflakes through the sky.

But it wasn't so fun for Pin!

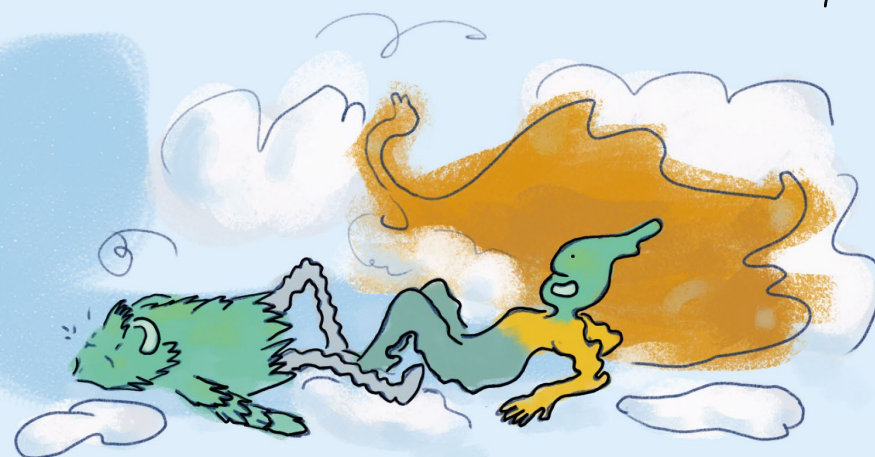

"Help!" Pin yelled.

"It's too scary for me!
I want to get down!"

They arrived safe and sound.
What a wonderful day!

The End.

These star-speckled birds are called Starlings.

Every winter they gather into big joyful flocks around the docks.

Each year many more friends fly across the sea (from as far away as Ukraine!) to join them and make the party even better.

DRAW IN MORE BIRDS TO JOIN THE FLOCK!

Starling feathers shine with all kinds of colours. Colour them in with wonderful party colours.

Why not add City Hall, the IFS Cable Car, or the spectacular cranes to your picture too?
